

Community Bank to Race for Breast Cancer Cure.

Executive National Bank to collect donations and participate in the Komen Race for the Cure.

Miami, FL October 3, 2008 – Every October, thousands of South Floridians gather to participate in the Komen Race for the Cure. Proceeds from the race benefit awareness programs and efforts to find a cure for breast cancer.

Celebrating its 25th year, the Susan G. Komen for the Cure Foundation has been named a top charity by Charity Navigator, the nation's leading independent charity evaluator.

Executive National Bank is sponsoring a team of ten employees to take part in the 2008 Komen Race for the Cure. Organizers of the race, which will be held at Bayfront Park on October 18th, hope to raise over a million dollars for breast cancer research and awareness.

“Being a breast cancer survivor, it makes me feel good to know our bank is working to support breast cancer research and awareness especially now when more cases are diagnosed at younger ages,” said Bessie Tomlin, a private baker at Executive National's headquarters in Kendall.

The bank encourages employees and customers to contribute, and has pledged to match donations up to $1,500 collected at Executive National Bank branches in Miami-Dade.
